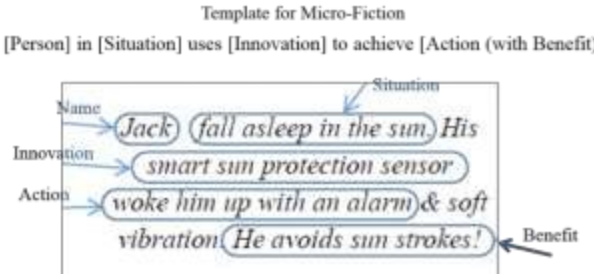
#iLRN17_SFP – A Micro-SFP Competition (just for fun!)

This form is designed to help you write, a µSFP (micro-SFP), describing an innovation in the area of Immersive Education. The challenge is to describe and motivate your idea in just 20 words (or, to be more exact, 129 characters, since these µSFPs are written for Twitter tweets (a tweet is 140 characters but some are used for the hashtag, #iLRN17_SFP, leaving just 129 for your µSFP). Generally there are three components to such µSFPs; the technology, a simple action and a person composed as follows.

More information on writing µSFPs is available from http://www.creative-science.org/activities/microsfp/



1. Please provide your name and contact details (WRITE CLEARLY, so we can contact you)

Name: _____ Organisation: _____ E-mail: _____

2. Write rough draft of SFP

3. Translate rough draft into Tweet (fitting one character to one box)

TWITTER TEMPLATE
			#	I	L	R	N	1	7	_	S	F	P

4. Provide more details about the story (aspects that are not obvious)

Anasol Pena-Rios – 17th June 2017